What aspects of your experience at Anser were similar to what you found at Riverstone?

"Anser's focus on Expeditionary Learning was very similar to Riverstone's emphasis on learning outside the classroom walls in the outdoors. Riverstone also continued the investment and focus the teachers had for each individual student at Anser."

How did Riverstone feel like the right "next step" after Anser -- both when you were considering Riverstone and when you actually graduated?

"Riverstone felt like the right 'next step' from Anser because I was able to continue my desire to be challenged in a rigorous academic setting and be a part of a supportive and close-knit community. They fostered my desire to attend a college where I would find these aspects that had become fundamental parts of my education."

Riverstone emphasizes learning beyond the classroom walls and into the outdoors and into the community. With the International Baccalaureate education, all of Riverstone's students get well-rounded and in-depth academics, thoroughly preparing them for college. Riverstone's very diverse student body builds a community of global learners."
